The ferry timetable changes twice a year, in spring and in autumn, and the harbour office prints a new card for every season so that travellers can keep it in a pocket.

On stormy days the first crossing may be cancelled without notice. The office then posts a handwritten sign on the gate and rings the bell on the quay three times.

Bicycles travel free of charge on the upper deck, but they must be tied to the rail before the boat leaves and may not block the stairs or the doors of the cabin.

Dogs are welcome on board when they are kept on a short lead, and the crew keeps a bowl of fresh water by the stern for them on warm summer afternoons.
